From the Revolution.

IMPORTANT INTERVIEW WITH CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

A. J. Grover, Esq., who furnishes the following interesting and valuable account of a long conversation with Judge Chase, is one of the most respectable and influential members of the bar of Illinois, formerly of Massachusetts. His statements cannot but command the deepest attention in every part of the country.

PETERSBURG, VA., November 24, 1868.

Editors of the Revolution:

I came from Washington to Aquia creek on the same boat and occupied the same seat in the cars yesterday with Chief Justice Chase. Introducing myself as an attorney from Illinois and a member of the bar of his court, I drew him into conversation by interrogations upon a variety of national questions. I found him very talkative indeed, and willing to express his opinions upon most subjects which I introduced. In regard to impeachment, he said Johnson was probably impeachable, and when called to preside over the high court which was to try him he hoped and expected that it would conduct itself in a becoming manner, and with that dignity and judicial decorum which ought always, and had always heretofore, characterized great State trials, but that the Senators occupied their usual seats instead of being seated on the right and left of the presiding judge as the supreme judges and as other senates have done in the trial of impeachments; that Senators did not conduct themselves like judges, but read newspapers, wrote letters, and railed at Johnson as Johnson had railed at the Senate; that they denounced Johnson as the greatest criminal of the age during the trial, when that was the very question which they had sworn impartially to try; that sitting as a Senate they made the rules by which to govern and conduct the trial, when all this should have been deferred until after the organization of the court; that had the trial been conducted with due regard to formalities and usages becoming to grave and reverend Senators sitting as judges in such a case, that whatever had been the judgment rendered, the moral effect would have been favorable. He said that articles might have been drawn under which Johnson would probably have been convicted; that the reason why such articles were not presented was that certain men high in office and in the Republican party were as deep in the mud as Johnson was in the mire; that Mr. Stevens confessed that this was the fact.

In reply to a question, Mr. Chase said that he did not regard Gen. Butler as the ablest of the impeachment managers; that Butler had great intellectual power, but was a good deal of an Old Bailey lawyer; that Wilson of Iowa or Mr. Bingham were Butler's superiors as sound lawyers and statesmen. He said that he did not believe the stories about the personal dishonesty of Butler; that nothing affecting his personal integrity had ever come to his knowledge while acting as Secretary of the Treasury.

Speaking of General Grant, Mr. Chase said, now you have got your President, what are you going to do with him? I replied, Better inquire "what he is going to do with us?" adding, "Is he in sympathy with the Republican party on negro suffrage?" Mr. Chase said, I don't know any more about General Grant than you do. I do not think he is personally in favor of negro suffrage, but I do not think he will oppose the wishes and acts of the party.—He thought General Grant was a man of great practical judgment in military matters. He did not agree with those who asserted that he was merely a fortunate man. Would take a rebel General for President if he had repented. Sudden conversions, he would admit, were to be distrusted; they might be unlike St. Paul's in every other respect. He preferred the financial part of the Democratic platform to the Republican platform in that respect. Said it would be repudiation to insist upon paying the five-twenties issued under the act of February, 1862, in greenbacks. I told him that I wrote the fourth resolution of the Republican platform, against repudiation. He said that is a good resolution. He said he was opposed to consolidating the national indebtedness into a long loan. Was in favor of paying the debt as quickly as possible, in gold. The people will pay up the debt or repudiate it. If the bonds were to be changed, he was in favor of a short loan.—Did not care whether the new bonds were exempt from taxation or not. It would make no real difference to the people. That taxation would necessarily increase the rate of interest if the bonds remained in the country. Taxation and low interest would drive the bonds out of the country, and thus drain off all the specie. Was in favor of a return to specie payment. No need of diminishing the volume or changing the character of the currency to effect this.

In reply to a question, Mr. Chase said he was glad he was not nominated by the Democrats on the platform which they adopted. He could never have accepted a platform opposed to the rights of the negro. He did not say that he would not like to be President. If he could have done so, he would have been glad to have accepted the Democratic nomination and stopped the crusade of the party against the negro.—This would have been a good thing for the whole country. Being on his way to Richmond to hold Court, I asked him when he expected to try Jeff. Davis. He replied that he did not know when Jeff. Davis would be tried. That the Government had control of Jeff. Davis and was responsible for the delay. That he had always been ready to try him. He did not know why Davis had been allowed to go off to Europe.

I asked the Chief Justice what he thought of the proposed amendment to the Constitution to confer equal suffrage upon the citizens of all the States. He said he had nothing to do with it, but thought it would be as well to leave that matter with the States. I expressed the hope that the word male as well as the word white would be left out of the amendment, if it should be submitted to the States for adoption.—Mr. Chase said it could never pass Congress with the word male left out. He, personally, would be glad to see the experiment of female suffrage fairly tried. I remarked that he was generally supposed to be friendly to the woman's rights movement. He said he certainly had no objections to female suffrage; that all of his instincts were democratic.

Resuming the greenback question, I asked why we could not substitute greenbacks for the national bank currency, and thus save the wastage and the interest on the bonds deposited by the banks? Mr. Chase replied that we must have Banks to circulate the greenbacks, and that the national bank currency was really greenbacks. That he tried hard when the law was before the Committee to have the wastage accrue to the Government, but could not get the Committee to report the bill with such a provision. That he tried to secure the wastage to the Government on the one dollar notes even, but failed in this. He said that so many of the members of Congress were interested in banking that it was impossible to get what he wanted; that no modification of the law curtailing the profits of the national bankers could be passed for the same reason. That many of the Republican leaders and office holders were corrupt and unprincipled men. That he had little confidence in the Republican party for this reason. The masses are honest, but the leaders are bad men. If the party succeeded in conferring suffrage upon the negro, it would probably be the last of its acts for the benefit of the country. The party had been in power so long, bad men largely controlled it. Little can be expected of it in future.

The Chief Justice seems to be very cheerful and happy; not at all sour or morose, as he is represented to be by some of the Republican papers. He appeared strong and vigorous in health, and does not seem to have grown old any during the last twenty years. He reads the finest type without glasses, walks with a brisk and elastic step, jokes and laughs as heartily as when he was twenty years younger. I think he will be able to stand all political disappointments which may be in store for him, such as he underwent in July last, and that he is likely to live long enough to be a candidate for the Presidency several times yet, and that the country is much more likely to get several worse before one better President than Chief Justice Chase would make.

THE SENTINEL.

JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1868.

We have been absent a good deal from our post, and will necessarily be so quite often until the first of January.

That our journal may do good, and prove a source of entertainment and improvement to the people, is our great wish and desire. We were reared in a profession which never allowed its members to attempt to elevate themselves by decrying and dishonoring others of the same calling. Lawyers, as a class, are ever ready to assert, defend and maintain the dignity of their own profession. "Doctors will differ," and Editors are more noted for struggling than spearing each other. We were aware of all the difficulties, when we entered the corps editorial. We knew that journalism in North Carolina was after the model of Governor Holden, who had given tone to it for a quarter of a century.

In this remarkable era of emancipation from slavery, from tried institutions and Constitutions, we had hoped the State would be emancipated from the governing model of journalism. What that model is we need not state. Suffice it to say, that it comprehends everything that an honest, honorable journalist should avoid.

While J. B. Neathery & Co. are the ostensible but passive Editors of the organ, Gov. Holden will be the active Editor. The paternity of certain articles in the Standard are as apparent as the paternity of the Speaker of the House of Representative. When the Sentinel extended the right hand of fellowship to all Editors, it did not include the active of the Standard.

Prophecy is defined to be the narrative of events before they happen. The great and good Judge Story, knowing that history only repeated itself, foretold exactly the state of things as they now exist in North Carolina. His prediction is so apropos, that we repeat it:

"If ever the day should come, when the best talent and best virtues should be driven from office and place by intrigue or corruption or by the ostracism of the press, or the still more unrelenting persecution of party, honest legislation would cease, legislation would be wise by accident and bad by system and design, and, under it, constitutional liberty would perish."

This prophecy we published in our issue of the 2nd. inst., and simply added that that day had arrived. "Who so blind as not to see it? Who so hold as to gainsay it?"

This simple extract waked up the whole Radical ring. Governor Holden growled through the Standard, that Judge Ruffin "had a contempt for the Editor of the Sentinel." Gov. Holden's militia General from New York, Mr. Martindale, offered what he called retaliatory resolutions upon us, which proposed to inquire if Judge Story really said so, and, if he did, was it true?

Where is the retaliation on the Sentinel? It looks more like retaliation on Judge Story, and it looks still more like an effort to repress Senator Sweet's resolutions on legislative corruption; and Mr. Sweet so intimated to the Governor's General of the Eastern Division, and called aloud on Senators to put the seal of their disapprobation on such an attempt, especially when he had pledged his word to "locate bribery" and corruption.

Will the people believe it, that a resolution appointing a Committee to inquire into bribery and corruption, on the part of members, was two days in getting through the House, after it had passed the Senate? In fact, was once voted down in the House and a substitute adopted in its stead? The Ring in the House were active in producing delay and throwing obstacles in the way of the passage of the resolutions. Gen. Laflin seemed especially active. We saw him in the Senate, when Senator Sweet declared that the opposition to these resolutions was but a finger-board pointing to the seats of corruption! and a motion was made to remove Mr. Sweet from the Committee—Mr. Sweet, the very member who said he could locate corruption! "Let us have peace."

BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION.

When that honest Democrat and patriot, Nathaniel Macon, retired from public life, he said to the late Chief Justice Nash, that our's was the most corrupt government on earth.

Judge Nash could not believe or rather understand this, and all because he did not see the inside workings of the government at Washington, as Mr. Macon did.—The people are the last to see political corruption. In fact, it is like pestilence and famine; it is not visible to the eye. When the cholera raged in Philadelphia and the yellow-fever desolated and decimated Norfolk, it could not be seen. So with bribery and corruption. It lays its deadly hands upon the vitals of the country, but the eye cannot perceive it—and yet the body politic feels it, as the body corporate does famine and fever.

We heard it said, last summer, that, if the Radical ticket was elected, we should have rottenness in the Executive, Judicial and Legislative departments of the government. We have some evidence of political prostitution and corruption in each of these grand divisions of the government, and we shall submit it to the public, without passion or prejudice. We have no direct tangible evidence, such as Senator Sweet has, of "bribery and corruption," but ours is as strong, nevertheless, as the evidence that the yellow fever was in Norfolk in 1855, and the cholera in Philadelphia, at the time of that dreadful scourge there.

PLUNDER IN BANKRUPTCY.

Mr. Cowen, a merchant of Hillsboro, filed a petition in Bankruptcy. He paid Dewese $75 down. His goods sold for $3,066. 77. Eighteen hundred dollars only were reported for distribution. When we heard from the case last, certain creditors were determined to over-haul the matter before Judge Brooks.

Judge Brooks is an honest man, and we think that he will be apt to dock Cebe Harris' bill. Now Cebe's fees as Deputy Marshal were $400, of which $300 were for storage of the goods in Raleigh, for two months.

With such fees the Superintendent of Public Works should be made to abate one dollar in the cord on wood for the Lunatic Asylum. Dr. Grissom's attention is called to the matter.

Dewese is put down in the bill as claiming $123 over and above the $75 sent with the petition. The Colonel don't want "guns" nor "peace," but a few more Centens!

The Motion to Quash.—The argument on both sides of the motion to quash the indictment against Mr. Davis, on the ground that the Fourteenth Amendment covered the penalties in his case, was very able.—After hearing the argument, the Chief Justice of the United States was of opinion that the motion of the defendant should be granted, and the indictment dismissed.—Mr. District Judge Underwood was of an opposite opinion, and, as the law permits in such cases, this division of opinion between the members of the court was certified to the Supreme Court of the United States, that the point might be there argued and determined.

"The bravest of those who led the Southern armies to battle are now disqualified from holding any office whatever. They are Pariahs in the land of their birth, and walk the soil of their country, in point of civil rights, below the humblest of their former slaves. In case of a foreign invasion they may, it is true, occupy a place in the ranks and bare their bosoms to the enemy's bullets, but cannot hold an office as high as that of corporal. And these men are the very selected men of the whole South, whom the South, in the days of her virtue as well as the days of her alleged vice, trusted and honored with her highest offices, civil and military.

Strength of body is not always the accompaniment of intellectual vigor. Which is the most to be valued, the one to stop the bullet or the God-like intellect which gives direction to his efforts, and without which his efforts would be vain? Is it not mortification to men of intellect such as these, of the most stinging character, that they are thus punished, unless, like the martyrs at the stake, they look within and find consolation in the reflection that they have not merited it?"

We make the foregoing extract from the argument of Mr. O'Connor on the motion to quash the pending indictment against Mr. Davis. It presents the case in a very forcible light, and will impress every fair-minded man. The evil is intensified, when it is remembered, that the men who were most instrumental in bringing on the war have had their disabilities removed, are in high favor with the powers that be, and are using the power which they have acquired, as the price of their baseness, to oppress and humiliate those whom they deluded and betrayed.

"How fearful the guilt must be when, by a charge of this fearful kind, madly and indiscriminately made, the credit of a State is ruined only to gratify party ends, or to feed a greed for unhallowed gain."

The Governor's paper is referring to the black-mail resolutions. Who introduced them? Senator Sweet—a Republican.—Who advocate them? Mr. Seymour, Mr. Pou, Mr. Ingram, Mr. Ellington, Mr. Bowman, and others,—all Republicans! Is their "guilt" fearful? Here is what Mr. Sweet said in the Senate, on Saturday:

"I intend to investigate this matter thoroughly, without fear or favor, and there is nothing which pleases me better than to see these attacks on me. They serve as a finger board, Mr. President, to guide the Committee."

Capt. W. H. S. Sweet.—Few will accuse us of political partisity for the gentleman whose name heads this article. With him we have very little acquaintance; but we cannot avoid expressing our admiration for the bold and fearless manner with which he has stepped forth as a champion of right, and a searcher into the venal practices of those in official position. Already we notice a portion of the Radical press begin to denounce him, and are making preparations to read him out of the Republican ranks, because he has dared to avow a determination to expose rascality, and bring offenders to the bar of justice, regardless of the political consequences to himself. Panoplied in the armor of truth and integrity of purpose, Capt. Sweet may well laugh with scorn at the venomous shafts hurled against him—they will drop harmless at his feet—If the honest and heartfelt approval of a political adversary can be of consequence to the Senator from Craven, we would not hesitate to express that approval, and it gives us great pleasure to state that all with whom we have conversed, of every shade of political opinion, (except the most virulent radicals,) agree with us in approving the course of our Senator.—Newbern Journal of Commerce.

Singular and Fatal Accident.—A few days ago a son of Mr. H. W. Hill, of this county, aged about 17 years, charged a musket for the purpose of firing at a flock of wild geese, but having, unfortunately, overcharged the piece, the concussion produced by its discharge was so great as to disengage the barrel of the gun from the stock, which, striking the young man upon the forehead, produced a mortal wound.

Two of the wild geese were also killed by the shot.—Old North State.

The Post-Office Department, during the last fiscal year, instituted three hundred and nine suits for the recovery of balances due the United States, and obtained two hundred and seventy eight judgments. A large portion of these were in the Southern States.

A correspondent, who seems to have invaded Isabella's bed chamber, says that her ex Majesty sleeps on three French matresses of wool, covered with red silk, on a bed of iron gilt, which she brought with her from Spain.

A Chicago judge set Louisville in a commotion the other day, by driving there in search of a young woman, heir to $800,000 in England. He couldn't find the right one.

Legislature of North Carolina.

The Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Rich, from the Committee on Internal Improvements, reported favorably upon the following bills, viz:

Bill to amend an act, amendatory of an act, to incorporate the Western North Carolina Railroad Company;

Bill to amend the Charter of the Oxford branch of the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad Company;

Mr. Sweet, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, presented a report, signed by Messrs. Hayes, Blythe, Beasley and Eppes, colored, in reference to the case of Mr. Purdie, Senator from the 14th District, alleging that Mr. Purdie had held the office of Magistrate before and during the war, was a member of the Legislature in 1858-'59, and took an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, never served in the army during the rebellion, never invested a dollar in Confederate bonds, was a private in the Home guards, but never served, unless compelled to do so. Half of the Committee, whose names are signed, believe him to be banned by the Howard amendment, and, therefore, not entitled to his seat.

The report was accepted, and, after some discussion, on motion of Mr. Love, its further consideration was postponed until Wednesday next, in order to give the other portion of the Committee time to present a minority report.

The bill authorizing A. B. Jones, former tax collector of Buncombe county, to collect the arrearages for 1866-'67, (introduced by Mr. Candler,) was next taken up, when,

Mr. Hodnett moved its reference to the Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

After some debate, the motion to refer was put and lost.

Mr. Bowman offered a proviso: That no persons shall be compelled to pay such losses, who will make oath that they have paid the same, and have lost their receipts.

Mr. Candler accepted the amendment.

The bill, as amended, passed its second reading.

House bill No. 88, introduced by Mr. Justice, of Rutherford, relative to granting law licenses, was next reached, when Mr. Malone moved its reference to the Judiciary Committee.

After some discussion, Mr. Justice consented to the reference.

The resolution (introduced by Mr. Malone,) instructing the Code Commissioners to prepare, as soon as possible, a compilation of all the Charters, Acts and Resolutions, in relation to the Public Works of the State, and also to define the duties of the Superintendent of Public Works, was taken up and adopted.

The resolution (introduced by Mr. Malone,) instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire whether or not this Legislature could, under the Constitution, discontinue the Code Commission, coming up,

Mr. Downing moved to indefinitely postpone it, when,

Mr. Malone said:

The object of this resolution is to require the Judiciary Committee to report their opinion upon the legal question as to the power of this Legislature to discontinue the Code Commission. There is no doubt that the entire change of the practice and the great innovations on the law of the State have resulted in great uncertainty, and have resulted, and will result, in an increased expenditure to the State and individuals.—Owing to the changes made in the Constitution, it was necessary to make some few changes in the practice and procedure of the State. But why require the State to pay a monthly expense of $600 to make changes that are not only uncalled for, but unnecessary and fraught with untold mischiefs? Why destroy the long established usages of North Carolina, for the purpose of the introduction of the large Code of the State of New York, which has been a source of untold litigation since the year 1848?

The keeping of this Code Commission as a fixed institution of the State is an enormous outrage on the good people of the State. We are to have this wild and reckless revolution in our laws, at the expense of the honest people of the State. Why make changes until it appears that changes are necessary? I hope the Judiciary Committee will be required to give an opinion upon this important question.

Mr. Downing insisted upon his motion.

Mr. Stilley said that if this resolution was referred to that Committee, it would probably remain there without a report.—He said it was true that the Commission had been somewhat inactive, yet there was a great deal of necessary work upon the Code for them to do. He would favor the motion to indefinitely postpone.

After some debate the question recurred upon that motion, when Mr. Perebee demanded the yeas and nays.

The call was sustained and resulted in a vote of yeas 43, nays 40, as follows:

Ayes.—Messrs. Ames, Barnett, Bowman, Cherry, (colored,) Crawford, (colored,) Dixon, Downing, Estes, Foster, Franklin, French, Gahagan, Graham, Gunter, Harris, of Wake, (colored,) Hayes, (colored,) Hodgin, Horney, Hudgings, Ingram, Justice, of Rutherford, Kelly, of Moore, Laflin, Mayo, (colored,) Moring, Morrill, Pearson, Price, (colored,) Rea, Renfrow, Robbins, (colored,) Reynolds, (colored,) Seymour, Siegrist, Sinclair, Simonds, Snipes, Stevens, Stilley, Vest, Waldrop, White, Wilson—43.

Nays.—Messrs. Armstrong, Barnes, Boddie, Candler, Carson, Cawthorn, (colored,) Ellis, Ellington, Perebee, Gibson, Green, Grier, Hawkins, Hinnant, Hodnett, Humphries, Justus, of Henderson, Kelly, of Davie, Leary, (colored,) Long, of Chatham, Long, of Richmond, Malone, Matheson, McMillan, Moore, Nicholson, Painter, Parker, Proffitt, Robinson, Smith, of Alleghany Smith, of Wayne, Stanton, Sweat, (colored,) Thompson, Vestal, Welch, Williams, of Harnett, Williamson, (colored)—40.

By Mr. Laflin: A bill to amend chapter 561, Code of Civil Procedure. Referred.

By the same: A joint resolution to pay special Clerks in the Secretary of State's Office. Lies over.

By J. S. Leary, colored: A bill to amend an act, entitled an act to authorize the county of Cumberland and town of Fayetteville to issue bonds for their indebtedness. Lies over.

On motion of Mr. Vest, the House then adjourned.

A Most Wonderful and Successful Invention!

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC
CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.

Awarded the highest Testimonial wherever Exhibited.

Rev. M. W. Staples, Inventor and Patentee.

This Boiler is self-acting, and dispenses entirely with labor and the wear of clothes. The hot suds and steam, by the action of fire, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without any rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested, and pronounced unequalled as a Clothes Washer, by those who have used it.

All fabrics, from the finest laces to the bed-blanket, can be washed perfectly and with ease and without the aid of the rubbing-board. For Flannels it is invaluable, as the rubbing, rolling and pressing process must necessarily full them more or less.

It is truly a labor and clothes saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hardship, and washing day no longer a terror and a dread to housewives.

The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.

The saving in the wear of clothes will soon pay for the outlay.

It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of boiled suds pass through the clothes in thirty minutes; this being the longest time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes.

Hundreds of these Boilers are being sold each week, giving perfect satisfaction.

MISCELLANEOUS.

To the People of the Southern States.

New York, Nov. 3, 1868.

When the pure medicinal restorative, now so widely known as Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps, was introduced into the world under the endorsement of four thousand leading members of the medical profession some 20 years ago, its proprietor was well aware that it could not wholly escape the penalty attached to all new and rapidly popular preparations. He, therefore, endeavored to invest it with strongest possible safeguard against counterfeiters, and to render all attempts to imitate it difficult and dangerous. It was submitted to distinguished chemists for analysis, and pronounced by them the purest spirit ever manufactured. Its purity and properties having been thus ascertained, samples of the article were forwarded to ten thousand physicians, including all the leading practitioners in the United States, for purposes of experiment. A circular, requesting a trial of the preparation and a report of the result, accompanied each specimen. Four thousand of the most eminent medical men in the Union promptly responded. Their opinions of the article were unanimously favorable. Such a preparation, they said, had long been wanted by the profession, as no reliance could be placed on the ordinary liquors of commerce, all of which were more or less adulterated, and therefore unfit for medical purposes. The peculiar excellence and strength of the oil of juniper, which formed one of the principal ingredients of the Schnapps, together with an unalloyed character of the alcoholic element, give R. fit the culmination of the faculty, a marked superiority over every other diffusive stimulant as a diuretic, tonic and restorative.

These satisfactory credentials from professional men of the highest rank were published in a condensed form, and enclosed with each bottle of the Schnapps, as one of the guarantees of its genuineness. Other precautions against fraud were also adopted; a patent was obtained for the article, the label was copyrighted, a fac simile of the proprietor's autograph signature was attached to each label and cover, his name and that of the preparation were embossed on the bottle, and the corks were sealed with his private seal. No article had ever been sold in this country under the name of Schnapps prior to the introduction of Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps, in 1851; and the label was deposited, as his trade mark, in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York during that year.

It might be supposed by persons unacquainted with the daring character of the pirates who prey upon the reputation of honorable merchants by vending deleterious trash under their name that the protections so carefully thrown around these Schnapps would have precluded the introductions and sale of counterfeits. They seem, however, only to have stimulated the rapacity of imposters. The trade mark of the proprietor has been stolen; the indorsement which his Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps alone received from the medical profession has been claimed by malicious humbugs; the labels and bottles have been imitated, his advertisements paraphrased, his circulars copied, and worse than all, unprincipled retailers, after disposing of the genuine contents of his bottles, have filled them up with common gin, the most deleterious of all liquors, and thus made his name and brand a curse for poison.

The public, the medical profession and the sick for whom the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps is prescribed as a remedy, are equally interested with the proprietor in the detection and suppression of these nefarious practices. The genuine article, manufactured at the establishment of the undersigned, in Schiedam, Holland, is distilled from a barley of the finest quality, and flavored with an essential extract of the berry of the Italian juniper, of unequaled purity. By a process unknown in the preparation of any other liquor, it is freed from every acrimonious and corrosive element.

Complaints have been received from the leading physicians and families in the Southern States of the sale of cheap imitations of the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps in those markets; and travellers, who are in the habit of using it as an antidote to the baneful influence of unwholesome river water, testify that cheap gin, put up in Schiedam bottles, is frequently palmed off upon the unwary. The agents of the undersigned have been requested to institute inquiries on the subject, and to forward to him the names of such parties as they may ascertain to be engaged in the atrocious system of deception. In connexion, the undersigned would say that he has introduced, from under the hands of the most distinguished men of science in America, proofs unanswerable of the purity and medicinal excellence of the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps; that he has expended many thousand dollars in surrounding it with guarantees and safeguards, which he designed should protect the public and himself against fraudulent imitations; that he has shown it to be the only liquor in the world that can be uniformly depended upon as unadulterated; that he has challenged investigation, analysis, comparison, and experiment in all its forms; and from every ordeal the preparation which bears his name, seal and trade-mark, has come off triumphant. He therefore feels it a duty he owes to his fellow-citizens generally, to the medical profession and the sick, to denounce and to expose the charlatans who counterfeit these evidences of identity and to call upon the press and the public to aid him in his efforts to remedy so great an evil.

The following letters and certificates from the leading physicians and chemists of this city will prove to the reader that all goods sold by the undersigned are all they are represented to be.

UDOLPHO WOLFE.

I feel bound to say, that I regard your Schnapps as being in every respect pre-eminently pure, and deserving of medical patronage. At all events, it is the purest possible article of Holland Gin, heretofore unobtainable, and, as such, may be safely prescribed by physicians.

Udolpho Wolfe, Esq., Present:

Dear Sir:—I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your Schiedam Schnapps, with the intent of determining if any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirits.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixture. I have been unable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself or to recommend to others, for medical purposes, the Schiedam Schnapps as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of Gin.

Very respectfully yours,

THE SENTINEL.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1868.

THE Standard takes leave of "Brother Pell," and introduces Bro. Pepper and his sermon. He does not inform us whether it was published for criticism or admiration. Take it either way and we are in a dilemma. If for criticism, we haven't read it; if for admiration, we haven't read it.

But we have heard that Shakspear's great play of Othello was once criticized by a man before he saw, heard or read it. So here's for a critique on Bro. Pepper's sermon, before reading it, and we may give one after we do read it. We sent the play to a pious man who did read it, and we give below what he said.

We think the thing misnamed. It should have been called a politico-literary-moral discourse. Now misnomer in literature is not so fatal as in indictments. Even for misnomer in indictments, you can enter a nol. pros. and begin de novo, with the proper name. We suggest to Attorney General Coleman a nol pros. as to the sermon, and a de novo publication, calling the thing by its proper name,—a disquisition or moral discourse.

We know it is said that "there's nothing in a name," and that "a rose by another name would smell as sweet." But that is not so, as sure as that Badham belongs to Gideon's band. You enter a full room and call Nancy, Jane, or Jane, Nancy. Though Nancy may be ugly and Jane pretty, it creates confusion in Nancy's mind. She is justly offended, repels it, and the gentleman must needs apologize. Just so about preaching; when the minister enters the sacred desk and proclaims this text: "Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His Courts with praise," and then enters into praise of Farragut, Chase, Sumner, Wilson, Stanton, Colfax and Pierpoint, the congregation is justly offended; they repel it, and the minister should apologize and ask forgiveness of God and the congregation.

As a sermon, the thing is incongruous and dislogistic, and much more deficient in the true spirit of piety, than the spirit of politics. As a political disquisition, tried by the Congressional standard and rule, it is a master piece. The rule in Congress is to talk about everything except the question before the House; so Bro. Pepper talks of everything, except the praise of God.

Taken as a disquisition, the pious brother was unfortunate in the selection of his text. His text in this case should have been: "Hail to the Chief," or "Star Spangled Banner." With the latter text, his poetry, would have been exquisite; it would have staggered Coleman and make him kick the glass out of the car-windows again.

"Sail on, Oh! Union, strong and great,"

There is another text, which would suit the discourse much better than the one selected, viz: "And he played upon a harp of a thousand strings, spirits of just men made perfect."

We might go further, for the subject is not exhausted, but the Governor says, "extended commendation of this sermon is unnecessary," and "it is published at the request of a large number of friends."

We will pay five dollars a head for every man who requested the Governor to publish it.

"Seeing a notice in the Standard of the Rev. G. W. Pepper's sermon, of a very ambiguous character, we concluded to give the dissertation (we cannot call it a sermon) a careful perusal, as, from the cautious wording of the intended complimentary notice, it looked to us like "damning with faint praise." As we said, we cannot call a sermon a production in which the name of our blessed Saviour occurs but once—and then not in the character of Redeemer, but in a way blasphemous in the extreme, viz: in the last prayer of a patriot, who, instead of praying, "Lord! be merciful to me a sinner," prays that this "great Republic may remain coeval with the kingdom of God's son."

If the Rev. Bro. was at at all read in his bible, he ought to know that "Heaven and earth must pass away,"—that this Republic must be replaced by a "home not made by hands, eternal in the heavens."

Again our Rev. worker in the fields of Ethiopia loses his biblical bearings, when he asserts, as a fact, that Thanksgiving day had its origin "five generations back," with our negro trading ancestry on Plymouth Rock! Does he forget the thank-offering of the children of Israel—the offering of first fruits, when the High Priest waved the first sheaf before the altar?

Again, he compares the trials and triumphs of this Republic to the "iron egg of Dresden." My friend, the similitude ceased when the iron egg of discord was thrown down. The silver yolk of Dresden was the work of cunning artizans. The silver yolk of this great Republic, "which has spread like a silver shield over the North," was made by the spoons and plate stolen from your Southern brethren, by such cocks as you describe; only in counting over the doughty deeds of arson, rape, rapine and plunder, you forgot your world-wide renowned rooster, B. F. Butler. But I dare say you omitted him purposely, knowing full well that that was a cock that would not fight.

The diamond rings of "the Union" are to be found transferred from Southern to Northern hands, —hands reaching out to receive the sacred chalice, which, if not red with the blood of their Southern sisters, are heavy with the spoils; forgetting the words of Peace which fell from His lips, (whose altar-fires are kept alight by such Priests as Rev. George W. Pepper—what mockery!)—Priest and people, we say, both forgetting whose lips said "render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's!"

DOW, Junior.

FEDERAL COURT.—This Court (his Honor, Judge Brooks, presiding) is making but slow head-way with the immense docket before it. Both the worthy Judge, the Clerk and the Bar are hampered by the incompetency of the District Attorney.—What a pity that he resigned the Judgeship! He would have been well qualified for that, as things are in North Carolina, at present; but, in his present position, he is a serious impediment.

WHAT FOR?—A meeting of the Republican members of the Legislature was held, in Commons Hall, last night, at the call of the State Executive Committee. Was it for the purpose of reading Senator Swert out of the party? One would suppose so, from the tone of the Governor's paper, on yesterday.

Among the most devout among the worshippers on Thanksgiving Day was Schuyler Colfax.—[Telegraphic dispatch.

The same might have been telegraphed of Deweese, Coleman & Co., members of the "foil Church." There used to be a saying, that when the devil went to prayers, there was danger brewing.

THE SENATE of Alabama has passed a bill, making the wearing of disguises and masks a crime punishable by fine and imprisonment. This was levelled at the Ku-Klux, but only hits the Christmas sport of urchins.

"Every man who has made a couple of speeches, or headed a torch light procession, thinks that he has laid the country under many obligations that can only be repaid by the bestowal of honorable position or lucrative office."—Standard.

This is supposed to be aimed at Whitson's aspirations for the Mayoralty. He is the only scallawag that we know of, that has had the face to head a negro procession.

The Governor's paper, plainly, would intimate that, having received his perquisites in "Collards," he is entitled to nothing beyond. Republics are ungrateful.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—See advertisement of Mrs. C. R. Owen, Hillsboro. THE AUTOMATIC WASH BOILER.—This wonder of the age has been successfully introduced by Messrs. J. B. Hunter & Co., Commission Merchants, Portsmouth, Va., into our State, and they have established a permanent depot at the Messrs. Lougee & Bro's., in this City, where all communications will receive prompt attention.

They are rapidly disposing of county rights, at reasonable prices. We know of no business that will afford a more profitable investment. It has been tested and proven to be all that is claimed for it, by our most reliable citizens.

The wonder is, that any Family should delay in procuring one of these great labor saving boilers. See advertisement.

LOVE AND LUNACY.—According to a statement in the New York World, something very like sharp practice has been practiced upon Commodore Meade, a salt of the old school, and brother of General Meade. Commodore M. is a veteran on the retired list, and lives, or lived, with his family in Brooklyn. A wife, son and two daughters, "fair as lillies and blooming as pure roses," composed the household. The two young ladies were the greatest beauties in Brooklyn, and crowds of admirers attended their foot-steps. But the old gentleman, who was irritable and very high toned, had very little fancy or tolerance for the sweet follies of youth, and cleared his house of all such intruders. But love laughs at locksmiths—much more at the frowns of old age. A very shrewd lady, friend of the family, who had a great penchant for match making—as most sympathizing female friends have—took it upon herself to introduce a young gallant, who, by successful land speculations at Vineland, N. J., had amassed the comfortable little sum of $800,000. The young gent was pleased and pleasing. He, in due time and in due form, made his declaration of love to one of the fair lillies, and, to use the current phrase, his affection was "reciprocated."—When the old gentleman found out what was going on, he became furious. We copy from the World:

"He is reported to have told the lady friend who introduced the Vineland speculator to the bosom of his family, that he "thought she had a great deal of impudence in introducing the d—d speculator, and he wanted her to know that his children were never intended to be placed on exhibition for d—d Yankee wife-hunters, and that before his girl was married to the d—d speculator, he would have more need of the undertaker than a wife." In other words, the aged veteran threatened to blow holes in the Vineland speculator. This pious yet valiant New Englander had no desire, however, to have daylight penetrate his earthly frame in that manner, and accordingly he took a hack and forthwith he hied him to the Tombs, where he made a complaint against Captain Meade, who was bound over in the sum of $500 to keep the peace for one year. The bail was procured at once, and here comes the mysterious part of the story. Instead of being discharged, the veteran, who, it seems, according to the Vineland speculator's story, had showed symptoms of aberration of mind, was taken to another part of the Tombs, some further legal forms were made perfect, and Captain Richard W. Meade found himself whisked off to the Bloomingdale Lunatic Asylum, of which institution he is now an inmate, and is likely to remain so, unless the matter is agitated.

One day, after Captain Meade's incarceration in the terrible den of lunatics, Miss Meade was joined in the bonds of wedlock to the Vineland proprietor. It was the old story of the "funeral-baked meats," &c., over again."

Five weeks have now elapsed since the incarceration of the Commodore; and his friends are very uneasy lest he should become really crazy in the company he is keeping. His case has been laid before a judge, who has turned it over to a referee—where it may linger indefinitely.

[From the Memphis Appeal, November 29.]

MASSACRE OF CITIZENS IN ARKANSAS.

CLAYTON'S MILITIA THE MURDERERS.

A TOWN SACKED AND PLUNDERED.

The absurd proclamation of martial law by the so-called Governor of Arkansas could hardly have other result than rapine and bloodshed. The Washington, Arkansas, Telegraph, of the 18th. inst., comes to us with an account of one of the most shocking occurrences of these troublesome times, which we have not space to reproduce entire this morning.

It appears that on Wednesday, the 10th inst., a band of between two and three hundred men entered the little town of Centre Point, in Sevier county, about twenty-eight miles from Washington, and took possession of the place. Taken by surprise, the citizens were entirely defenseless, and were marshaled en masse in an open field, where they were kept until four o'clock in the afternoon, not knowing by what authority or for what reason they were arrested. In the meantime the town was ransacked and plundered by the armed wretches, calling themselves Clayton's militia, of everything of value, and whatever they could not carry away they destroyed. Finally, one Capt. Reeves addressed the captive citizens in the following strain, as reported by the Telegraph:

"Governor Clayton had declared martial in Sevier county. They were there to enforce his proclamation. It was only the initiation of what would occur. His men were enraged. It was with great difficulty he could restrain them. They wanted to kill ten or twelve men anyhow. They want to hang some of you fellows. We are coming back here again, perhaps to-morrow," etc.

The darkest part of this monstrous outrage remains to be told. Next day a number of citizens from the adjoining country, hearing it reported that the jayhawkers had made a descent upon Centre Point, came into town, some of them armed. A meeting was held, and it was agreed, in view of the authority under which the raiders had pretended to be acting, to appoint Committees to visit Murfreesboro and Washington to confer with Clayton and the military authorities. While they were still in consultation the horde of thieves and assassins again suddenly entered the town and commenced an indiscriminate onslaught, shooting down a number and making prisoners of those who were not fortunate enough to escape. They afterward selected three citizens from among the oldest and most respectable, led them out and murdered them in cold blood. The Telegraph thus concludes its account of this most horrible fruit of Clayton's blood-thirsty brutality:

"Three other citizens of Sevier county, Arkansas, noted for their respectability and standing in the community, strong and unwavering advocates of peace, of law, of order; respected for their age and esteemed for their virtues; Hester, Anderson and Gilbert by name; living under a government declared by Congress to be republican in form, were led out to the scene of slaughter and shot down like dogs, by men acting under instructions from the Executive of the State. There were also some six or eight citizens wounded, but how many of the militia were killed and wounded we were unable to ascertain. The militia are still in posession of Centre Point, and have all approaches to the town guarded. They permit persons to enter the place but will not permit them to pass out. The citizens had all dispersed except those whom they still hold as prisoners.

"Blood will have blood," and the vengeance of an outraged people will yet fall upon and crush the miserable wretch who thus prepares a banquet of plunder and slaughter for his murderous minions."

Both Houses organized at noon.

The case of Christie and Humphrey, contestants from the 6th Georgia District, was referred to the Election Committee.

ONE OF UNDERWOOD'S DECISIONS, &c.

RICHMOND, Dec. 7, M.

The U. S. District Court (Underwood presiding) to-day had up the Habeas Corpus case of Cæsar Griffin, convicted in Judge Shelley's State Court of shooting a white man, and sentenced to the Penitentiary.

The petitioner's counsel plead the illegality of Griffin's conviction, on the ground that Shelley was ineligible under the 14th Amendment, and was, therefore, no Judge at all.

Underwood rendered an opinion, sustaining the petitioner and discharged the prisoner!

The counsel for the respondent appealed from the District Judge in Chambers to the Circuit Court, where Chief-Justice Chase will be on the bench. The prisoner was bailed to appear.

This decision, if confirmed, upsets two-thirds of the legal decisions, criminal and civil, made in Virginia since the war.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7, P. M.

The Supreme Court, headed by Chase, and Evarts attending, visited the President to-day.

The Supreme Court has a full Bench except Grier.

The Georgia Senatorial question was warmly canvassed to-day. Hill's credentials were only presented. Miller will probably require the removal of political disabilities, and it was thought best not to complicate Hill's credentials. The Republican party are divided on this question.—Messrs. Ackerman, Bard, Speer and all the members of Congress, except Clift, urge Hill's admission. Governor Bullock and Mr. Hodgett, supported by Congressman Clift, urge delay.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue will, during the week, transmit to the President his resignation, to take effect at the close of the present month.

It appears that Menard is here without credentials from the Governor.

It is stated, to-day, that a colored Library Association addressed a note to Menard, urging him to make no effort for a seat, as it would certainly work to general disadvantage.

Governor Bullock has addressed a communication to Congress, representing that the laws of Congress, under which Georgia would be admitted into the Union, were not fully complied with, and holding that, until such compliance, Georgia's government must remain provisional. The failure lies in not exacting, from officers elected, the oath prescribed by Congress, and administering, instead, that provided by the Georgia Constitution; which failure to execute the law of Congress has resulted in the defeat of the purposes which Congress had in view in passing these acts, namely:

Affording adequate protection for life and property, and maintaining peace, good order and the free expression of political opinions. The Governor states that the wisdom displayed by Congress in providing that only loyal men should participate in the establishment of a provisional government, to be thereafter clothed with rights and immunities of a State in the Union is made apparent by the consequencies arising from the failure to enforce that legislation, &c.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7, P. M.

HOUSE.—One hundred and sixty-four members were present. Several new members were sworn in.

After the proceedings reported at noon, the credentials of Mr. Hamilton, of Tennessee, at large, were presented. The credentials were referred to a Committee and the privilege of the floor was refused Hamilton pending the decision.

Some half dozen bills and amendments to the Constitution, providing for the regulation of voting and naturalization in all the States were presented and referred to appropriate Committees.

Half dozen Financial Bills were referred.

The correspondence with Johnson, referring to the Alabama claims, was called for.

A resolution censuring Hon. Reverdy Johnson and demanding his recall was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Committee appointed to wait upon the President reported that his message would be transmitted at one o'clock, on Wednesday.

The Committee of Reconstruction was directed to examine into the Georgia affairs, with power to send for persons and papers.

Mullens introduced a bill to suppress the Ku Klux by national authority, and declaring the members outlaws; referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Tift presented a memorial from the Georgia Legislature, asking the removal of political disabilities from all citizens; which was referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

A bill was introduced, providing for the election in Virginian, in January; referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

A preamble and resolution, repealing the Tenure-of-office bill, was tabled.

The Reconstruction Committee was directed to enquire into the condition of Virginia, Texas and Mississippi, and report what legislation is necessary to support life, liberty and property.

SENATE.—Sherman presented Senator Hill's credentials.

Drake objected and said he would never admit a representative from a reconstructed State, where in the supremacy of the legal men was overthrown. He contended that Congress had a right to see the reconstruction laws enforced.

Sherman insisted, that Hill's presence here would help to cure the wrong.

Thurman said that the real ground of difficulty was that the Georgia Legislature was an illegal body, and requested the reading of the communication from Governor Bullock,—substantiating his statements.

Various documents were read, opening up the whole question, when the matter was postponed Wednesday.

Rice, of Arkansas, introduced a bill, requiring the Secretary of War to deliver the Governments of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Louisiana and Arkansas, at the respective seats of Government, as many arms for the Militia as the Governors may require, not exceeding two thousand rifles and two field pieces for each Congressional District.

These arms must go into the hands of loyal men, but remain the property of the United States, subject to the order of Congress.

Several financial and naturalization and suffrage bills were introduced, when the Senate adjourned.

SOUTHERN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
PURELY A SOUTHERN INSTITUTION.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
Atlanta, Georgia; Memphis, Tennessee; Louisville, Kentucky.
CAPITAL STOCK, $228,500.
Nett Assets of the Company, July 1st, 1868, $320,945.00.

Insures lives, and promptly adjusts and pays losses. Its principal business is with Southern States, and to them it appeals for patronage. It has ample means to fully protect Policy holders and pay all losses.

The "Southern" combines the advantage of both note and cash system; each and mutual—such as choose to pay cash may do so and secure a non-forfeitable policy and all the advantages of a Cash Company. The privilege of a permanent loan for one-third is granted to all who desire it.

It makes investments at home in good and reliable securities, thereby tending to make money more plenty in our midst, and to aid in developing the resources of our section, and to stop the annual drain of over Six Million dollars, which are being sent North for Life Insurance.

Its profits are equitably distributed among Policy holders and Stock holders.

In its organization are presented men of experience in Life Insurance, and their aim will be to make the "Southern Life" the exponent of the business, enterprise and progress of the present day.

NEW YORK.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
Office, No. 69, Liberty Street.

The Original Joint Stock Life Insurance Company in the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVELY confined to the insurance of first-class healthy lives.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE of the Stock system of Life Insurance, as opposed to the Mutual, is a low rate of premium for a stated sum assured, which is IMMEDIATE, SECURED, and CERTAIN; in lieu of a high rate of premium for a promised dividend which is REMOTE, CONTINGENT, and UNCERTAIN; this so-called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium, charged in the first instance.

ILLUSTRATION.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of effecting an insurance on his life; this amount will immediately secure him in the "Universal" the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum, paid to a Company charging the ordinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of $8,474.

The difference between these sums ($3,277) is exactly the same as an immediate bonus or addition to the policy to be paid by the former office to the holder of the policy in case of the early death of the insured. It is true that if the insured, in an office charging high rates, live long enough, and have his periodical dividends added to his policy, the sum may equal or surpass that above named; but it must not be forgotten that the chance of early death is the very thing the applicant desires to insure against, and consequently the greater the sum immediately secured contingent on this event, the greater the advantage to the policy-holder.

To illustrate the importance to the policy-holder of low premiums in more general terms, it may be stated that by a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one-third per cent greater; and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an interest cash dividend of thirty three and one-third per cent., payable in advance, or to a dividend of forty-five per cent. payable at the end of five years.

By the Stock plan the full cash effect of the premium is immediately secured to the insured, the Company taking all the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in insurance of the premium paid is not secured to the policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself.

Rates to Secure $1,000 at Death.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Some mariners when their sky is clear,
And wholly bright to view,
If one small speck of dark appear
In their great bearen of blue
And some with thankful love are filled
If but one streak of light,
One ray of God's good mercy gild
The darkness of their night.

In palaces are tears that ask
In discontent and pride,
Why life is such a dreary task,
And all good things denied.
And hearts in poorest huts admire
How love has, in their aid,
(Love sent not ever comes to tire)
Such rich provist o made.

THE WHIPPING POST IN DELAWARE.—This ancient institution of our State has been assailed quite vigorously by the press within the past month. It has been denounced in severe terms, and its abolition urged very earnestly. Our people, however, appear to be somewhat attached to the custom, and its speedy abrogation is very doubtful. A great many persons contend that all rogues stand in dread of the whipping post, and hence there is less thieving and burglary in our State than in most others. It is rare indeed that a robbery occurs on any of the highways, and persons travel without fear of injury in body or purse.—There have been some depredations in our city, but the thieves most likely came from Pennsylvania or Maryland, and, having secured their booty, made good their escape. If once caught, the good feeling of the sheriff would hardly prevent their backs from being well scored. A few lashes well laid on exert a very reformatory or restraining influence, and for that reason our people still cling to the "barbarous" custom.—Delaware Republican.

A Frenchman owed a man eight hundred francs, and he made a proposition to give him eight notes, payable monthly, for one hundred francs each. The first note was protested. The creditor demanded an explanation. "I didn't want you to loose eight hundred francs all at once, so I divided it up, that the loss might fall upon you by dribles."

A petty punster, whose ears will doubtless be clipped by the new Mayor, says that New York city is now governed by Oakley Hall, Tammany Hall, and Alcohol.—Times.

An editor has placed over his marriages a cut, representing a large trap, sprung, with this motto, "The trap down—another ninny caught!"

The RALEIGH SENTINEL having passed under the Editorial management of the undersigned, it will, from the present date, be conducted by him.

It will be the zealous and fearless advocate of the CONSTITUTION of the United States, seeking to bring the people back to their ancient reverence for that immortal instrument, and to restore the policy of the country to that honored standard, as the only guarantee of National prosperity.

It will do justice to the men and measures of the present day, whenever they may merit it, but it will unsparingly lash and denounce all who set themselves up in opposition to the Federal Constitution, and hold up to the public indignation corruption and imbecility in high places.

It will ardently seek the promotion of the best interests of North Carolina,—moral, educational, material and political.
